Somewhere on the Water

February 15, 2022 – Another day in Portsmouth, VA
Tuesday, Day 70 of our trip.

Work, work, and work. It was a good day. I do like to be busy with work.

I uploaded a couple of days of the blog. I hope you are enjoying it.

Mark is planning our departure from Portsmouth. Checking the weather, calling different marinas to get gas prices. He was able to relax today and not work too hard.

There is usually plenty to look at here. Ships going by, helicopters flying overhead, drinks in the flybridge. Nothing too crazy. Some of the time needs to be downtime...he is gonna be working hard when we get back to the cape!
